Talentoday achieves Gold Level status in Oracle PartnerNetwork

By achieving Gold Level status, Oracle has recognized Talentoday for its commitment to provide expertise and excellence in delivering talent assessment solutions.

San Francisco, CA. December 8, 2014 – Talentoday the psychometric, social and data-driven career guidance solution, announces today that it has achieved Gold Partner status in Oracle PartnerNetwork (OPN). By attaining Gold Level membership, Oracle recognizes Talentoday as an international and reliable test editor, as well as the company's commitment to deliver assessment tools to professionals.

San Francisco based Talentoday delivers personal insights to both individuals and professionals based on a psychometric approach. The company officially launched their enterprise platform, Talentoday Manager last October in response to the growing needs for professionals to more effectively and efficiently find the best-fit placement for their candidates and employees.

Becoming a Gold Level OPN Partner allows Talentoday to leverage its expertise in career management alongside the collaboration and support of Oracle experts, creating differentiation in the marketplace.

According to Martin Ryssen, COO and co-founder of Talentoday Inc., "We are excited about this relationship. Attaining Gold status in Oracle PartnerNetwork allows us to develop business opportunities within a broad and qualified customer network." Ryssen continued, "Thanks to the partnership, Talentoday will be able to respond to clients that require integrating the solution with their talent management interface, like Oracle Taleo Cloud Service for example."

Talentoday will be able to start developing specializations that will enhance its growth and set the company as a leader in the growing industry of modern talent assessment. Gold members receive access to Oracle account representatives, are showcased for joint customer success stories, made eligible for Oracle Collaborative Vendor Support Program, have priority placement in Oracle's internal partner-finder system and more.
